(May) would greatly benefit access to these events, and an additional sailing into Campbeltown on the Wednesday at the beginning of the Malts Festival (May) would support access to this event. Additional sailings for specified events, suitably marketed, would benefit these events and the local economy and environment, without significant impact upon other service provision.

5. Consideration should be given to extending the season for sailings to Campbeltown to bring the timetable into line with other summer services. It is noted that summer timetables for other services, including the Ardrossan to Brodick summer service which runs from 25th March to 23rd October, include the Easter and October holiday periods within the summer service. An equivalent provision of service on the Campbeltown to Ardrossan route would greatly benefit the service the local and visitor populations, while also bringing this timetable into line with others across the service benefitting customer understanding.
