

All prices must be clear and legible. The indication can be given directly on the goods or by means of a price list near to the goods which clearly identifies them.

In general this term covers all selling methods where you select a range of fresh fruit and vegetables and place them in a container for sale. The scheme may take the form of