1. Introduction

This corporate debt policy defines the principles that will be adopted when undertaking the billing, collection and recovery of council debt from customers in Argyll and Bute. It provides the framework to collect council debt effectively and efficiently, but also with due sensitivity to the circumstances of our individual customers. In the current economic climate with private sector wage freezes, many individuals are finding it hard to manage their financial affairs and many have high personal borrowing. This policy aims to balance the conflicting priorities of delivering high levels of collection performance in tandem with the provision of appropriate advice and support to our customers who may be finding it difficult to pay our debts.
